Champion Adds Three New Agents in Crofton and Annapolis

Champion Realty proudly announces the addition of three new agents: Wesley Johnson and Gary Siegel in the Crofton Office, and Maynold Moreno in the Annapolis office. Each brings a strong background in business, sales and management.

Wesley Johnson has over 10 years of experience in real estate and construction in the government sector and now is pleased to move into the residential market. "It's really fulfilling to take your client's requirements, find a good solution and see them happy with the results," he said. He chose Champion because of its "family atmosphere" and the opportunities it provides for learning and career growth.

Gary Siegel, a personal trainer and former software developer, brings to Champion his attention to detail, strong work ethic and drive to help customers achieve their goals. "I'm very client-oriented and committed to providing great service," Siegel said, noting that the quality of training he received from Champion convinced him to join the company.

Maynold Moreno transitioned to real estate after a career in marketing and retail. His training as a life coach gives him a keen ability to connect with people and help them evaluate options. He's also fluent in Spanish and English, allowing him to serve a diverse clientele. Key reasons he became part of Champion's team include access to cutting-edge technology, a solid training program, marketing expertise and "the opportunity to work with positive, supportive people."

"I'm excited to have both Gary and Wesley joining our team," said Tom Hough, manager of Champion's Crofton office. "With their backgrounds and knowledge we expect great things. Their personalities will make them easy to work with and their integrity will guarantee successful transactions."

"When I met Maynold, his energy, concern for clients and commitment to his clients' interests were clearly apparent," said Pat Savani, manager of the Annapolis office. "He was searching for a company with the resources to meet his clients' real estate needs, and he found it in Champion."

"These three gentlemen are a great addition to the Champion team," said Jon Coile, president and CEO of Champion Realty. "Maynold came to us from another large brokerage after seeing all we're doing to enhance our clients' real estate experience. Wesley and Gary caught the same spirit. It's not just new technology that attracted them, like our brand-new website, but also Champion's renewed focus on delivering buyers and sellers an authentic five-star experience. They're joining us at a perfect time, with mortgage interest rates still low and the spring market heating up. We're thrilled to have Wesley, Gary and Maynold on board and look forward their contributions."
